This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE

To collate and preserve in compact form the life-records of distinguished church leaders has hitherto proved to be a useful service to British Methodism as well as to some Christian denominations on this side of the Atlantic. American Methodism through the years has produced a remarkable library of the biographies of her own great men, whole volumes being devoted to the life of one man save in a few collections, such as "The Lives of Methodist Bishops" by Drs. Theodore L. Flood and John W. Hamilton (now Bishop) and the "Cyclopædia of Methodism" by Bishop Matthew Simpson. But not since the days of Nathan Bangs has an attempt been made to present any considerable number of biographies of American Methodists within the limits of one volume, compact in form and convenient in arrangement.

Nathan Bangs, that eminent church historian, who in a sense belongs to all branches of Methodism, published in Volume Two of "A History of the Methodist Episcopal Church," in the appendix, "an alphabetical index of all the Preachers who have been received into full connection in the Methodist Episcopal Church to the year 1814, including those who came from Europe and returned," over sixteen hundred of them in all, giving their names, dates of reception into the Conference, location, death, withdrawal or expulsion. In subsequent volumes of his history this list was brought down to 1840. Within the fruitful century that has intervened, so marvelously has American Methodism multiplied that, were Nathan Bangs to attempt to record only living clergymen in various branches of the Methodist vine on this continent to-day, he must needs tell the story of over forty-five thousand ministers.

In a book of this kind it is impracticable even to mention tens of thousands of devoted ministers, and laymen too, who are laboring together for the extension of the Kingdom of God, some of them with true heroism albeit in relative obscurity. It is the plan, therefore, of this Wesleyan onomasticon to present the biographies of only the more prominent living Methodists of America.

At the outset the question of selecting names to be included herein was most perplexing. That responsibility, however, the compiler has almost entirely placed upon a Board of Nominators representing the various Conferences in different branches of American Methodism. Certain ecclesiastical leaders, eminently competent for the task, were persuaded to select this Board of Nominators from all parts of North America with especial reference to their knowledge of Methodists in their respective localities and their ability to select with impartial judgment the more prominent names. The nominators in turn were invited to exercise this intimate knowledge and impartial judgment. The result was a list of those who have been invited to send to us data concerning their own lives.

If the Gentle Reader find not in this book the name of his friend whom he regards of sufficient prominence to be mentioned in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN METHODISM, let him reflect that not all those nominated have honored us with the information we have requested concerning their life-records; and of those failing thus to respond it has been possible to include in the book only the most prominent leaders, whose biographies may be found in the files of the church papers. And if his friend has been overlooked in this process, let him be consoled with the hope that a later edition of this book may somewhat reduce the imperfections inevitable in the first edition of a work of this nature. To that end we eagerly invite suggestions from the Gentle Reader for improvement in the book, the broadening of its personnel and the elimination of errors and inaccuracies.

We are grateful to all who have assisted in making the book possible; to all nominators for their nominations, to those nominees who have so generously furnished information requested of them, and especially to Dr. James R. Joy, editor of The Christian Advocate (New York), for the initial suggestions and plans from which this work has developed, and to Mr. William Rhinehart Barbour for most valuable advice and assistance in producing it in this form.

It is the earnest hope of the compiler that this book in itself may contribute to the self-esteem of no man; but that it may prove with God's blessing to be of real value to the successors of John Wesley in promoting a more intimate acquaintance with the lives of our living leaders, a deeper fellowship among the separate branches of Methodism, and that closer union for which many centripetal forces are operating in this age of broader brotherhood.

CARL F. PRICE.

MIDDLETOWN, CONNECTICUT

WILLIAM ARNOLD SHANKLIN, President

¶ This oldest Methodist College in America has a larger proportion of its living alumni in "Who's Who in America" than any other American institution of higher learning, with possibly one exception.

¶ The college campus covers about forty acres, on a hill overlooking the Connecticut. There are twelve college buildings and also twelve fraternity and society buildings. A new dormitory to accommodate one hundred and four men is now being completed. The Chapel, built in 1870 as a memorial to students who gave their lives during the Civil War, will be remodeled during the summer of 1916 and a fine new pipe organ installed.

¶ Wesleyan has always emphasized the training of character as well as the training of the intellect. The faculty of Wesleyan is one of great personalties who are not only lovers of learning but also lovers of men.

¶ Students are admitted to the college on the certificates of approved schools or by the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board or those of the college.

¶ The courses of instruction cover a wide range and lead to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science.
